Internal Research Note RN-2026-021

Hypotension signal with Cardimexa in combination therapy
Author: Dr. Banerjee, Cardiology
Status: Draft

Symptomatic hypotension is dose-related. In patients on concurrent Renalix, hypotension rates were nearly doubled in a small internal series (n=46). Suggest dose titration in 2-week steps. This is an internal observation, not peer-reviewed; external literature should be checked for confirmation.

Follow-up actions: (1) update the evidence table, (2) discuss at the monthly journal club, (3) log new external references.
